

Readiness for Change Questionnaire

Name: _____ Date: _____

One of the most important things you can do to change your lifestyle for the better is understand your readiness for change. In other words, although you might want to be in great shape, there's a difference between wanting it and being ready to do the work necessary to accomplish it. In this questionnaire we'll find out if you're really ready to make the changes necessary to improve your body composition, health and physical performance.

Simply answer the questions below by selecting the response most appropriate to your situation. Once you've completed all the questions, your score will be calculated. And remember, be honest. You're doing this exercise to find out if you're really ready to make a lifestyle change. So don't lie to yourself.

YOUR SCORE AND WHAT IT MEANS

21 to 63:

It's clear that changing the way you look, feel, and perform have become very important to you and you realize that the way you're doing things right now simply isn't cutting it. You're tired of not getting results, and you're tired of your growing waistline, your sluggish metabolism, and your lack of energy. And not only are you tired of it, you're committed to doing something about it - today. Congratulations! Getting to this point takes a lot of work. Now, let's do something about it.

-20 to +20:

If you scored in this range, it's important for you to stop thinking and start doing. You're probably frustrated with the way things are, but you're afraid that changing the way you do things will cause you more hassle and difficulty than just sitting back, doing nothing, and continuing to look and feel the way you do today. In fact, you're not alone. This is most people's greatest fear: that a new exercise and nutrition program will cause more pain than the pain they feel right now. If this is you, step outside of your shell and seek out some people who are exercising, eating well, getting results, and having fun doing it. Clearly, millions of people out there are following a healthy lifestyle and loving every minute of it. But thinking that they never had difficulties to overcome like you do is a mistake. At some point in time each and every one of them had some old set of unproductive habits to discard. Once this was accomplished, they could easily get into the zone. And you can too. What are you waiting for?

-61 to -21:

From the results of your questionnaire, it doesn't look like you really want to change. Is this true? Are you simply toying with the idea of improving your physical activity habits and eating habits? If so, you're not really ready to make a change. With each passing year that you avoid good activity and nutrition habits your risk for disease increases. Not only that, you'll progressively gain fat, lose muscle, and look much older than your actual age. These are the consequences of remaining indifferent to the medications you're on, the weight you've gained, and the environment with which you've surrounded yourself. Are you ready to deal with these things? Don't stay indifferent any longer. Take an honest look at how you've changed (on the inside and out) and admit that you could use a tune-up.
